Thailand – 2024

Mar 21 – Apr 5, 2024

Guided by Sukanya Thanombuddha (“End”) and Peter Burke

Oriental Pied Hornbill

Thailand is a country that we have visited as a pre-trip to our Bhutan tour. But we have yet to organize a full tour to the country. As we have worked several times with our local guides Sukanya Thanombuddha (“End”) and Panuwat (“Par) Wongyahweh and given interest by our senior guide Peter Burke, we thought we would unleash this tour on the world. This is a trip for birders who want to explore a wonderful nation, that is full of birds, and great food. Our team on the ground is great, and they will be able to show you an amazing trip, including central and northern Thailand, with Peter Burke as your host and guide from North America. Thailand is the birding gem of Southeast Asia, and there are so many lodges and hides now setup for seeing some difficult species, as well as the more common and easily visible abundance that is found in Thailand.

The Birding Sites We Visit

Bangkok Area and Spoon-billed Sandpiper – we will visit various public parks near the capital city, including mangrove forest and forested parks. There are ponds and rice paddies here too where Pheasant-tailed Jacana or Cotton Pygmy-Goose may be among your favorite birds. Key will be our time in the ponds looking for the rare and fantastic Spoon-billed Sandpiper at Bann Pak Thale. Not only will we have a good chance to find the Spoon-billed, but other uncommon Asian shorebirds are found here including the Asiatic Dowitcher, as well as Nordmann's Greenshank. Some other highlights include the Terek Sandpiper, Far Eastern Curlew and breeding plumaged godwits, as well as the two sand plovers. A side trip on a small boat will allow us to find the white-fronted and Malaysian plovers.

birding & nature tours

Kaeng Krachan National Park – This is a large national park on the west side of the country. It is huge and has not only a great deal of birds, but various mammals are found here from Giant Squirrels to Asian Elephant. The latter can be tough to see, although you do find evidence of their presence throughout. The birding highlights are almost too many to mention. But a description of how one birds the park is necessary. The access road reaches deep into the park, and stopping at various sections along the road is key. Lower down and close to the entrance we have a pond, and edge habitats, as one ventures farther along, the forest is taller and older. There is one area deeper in the forest where a walking trail is used which crosses the creek, such that you will require rubber boots to do so. Evenings at a birding lodge where sometimes hornbills come to the feeder!

Khao Yai National Park and Eastern Thailand – On our way to Khao Yai NP we will stop in limestone rock habitat, and search for the Rufous Limestone Babbler. Khao Yai is another large National Park, with different habitats and avifauna compared to Kaeng Krachan. Similarly, the road gives access to various different habitats, and we will have two days to get acquainted with the various birds and forest in the park. In one spot in the park, five different flowerpecker species are possible. These endearing birds are some of the birds you will remember from birding in Southeast Asia. There are trogons, broadbills, hornbills, scimitar-babblers, pittas, forketails and nice kingfishers – lots to see.

Doi ang Khang National Park – This park in the north is quite different in the avifauna found here. It is also an area where the Thai, Burmese and Chinese cultures intermingle, and some fabulous local food is to be found. The park reaches elevations greater than 1000m, and thus is home to slightly more subtropical species such as Hume's Pheasant, and Mountain Bamboo-Partridge along with a number of colorful passerines including many thrushes, redstarts and colorful flycatchers. In the creeks the White-crowned Forktail is possible, and we may find the Giant Nuthatch as well. If you have not been to Southeast Asia before, the names of some of the bird groups are alluring enough – Laughingthrushes, Finchbill, Niltava, Parrotbills, Sibias, Shrike-Babblers, Fulvettas, Yuhinas. We may even see the amazing looking Hodgson's Frogmouth.

Doi Inthanon National Park – Two days in this national park with a nice variety of habitats, including Dipterocarp Forest. This is a large park, encompassing the headwaters of four different watersheds, and where the highest mountain in Thailand is found. Doi Inthanon is the name of the mountain itself, which has its summit 2565 meters (8415 feet) above sea level. The road to the mountain allows for access to various elevations and therefore different habitats along the way. The Slaty-backed Forktail is in the creeks here, while birds like the Spectacled Barwing will be one of those birds that you think, why is it called a "barwing" and then you see it and understand. In the temperate highlands even, Eurasian Woodcock is a possibility. The highland forest is moss clad, and Rhododendron thickets can be found here, quite different from the warmer tropical lowlands. Even pine forests occur here.

Painted Storks

About the Physical Requirements & Pace

This is a moderate paced birding tour. The aim is not to see every single species possible, but to have fun and have some amazingly diverse birding at various spots in Thailand. We will be looking for a wide variety of birds, but this is not a trip where we will be maxing out the pace to see every single possible bird along the route. The idea is for us to enjoy Thailand, its food and its birds. The trip takes place in the tropics so one must be ready for hot and humid environments, and always be ready for a chance of rain. Weather will be cooler and more pleasant in higher elevations. We will be primarily birding, but there will be visits to some sites that include cultural spots of interest, and we will be wishing to sample the local Thai food as well. The accommodation is rated as 3-4 stars by Thai standards, some spots will be less luxurious than others, but all are comfortable, safe and clean. A spa is available in at least one of our hotels.

Note that rubber boots to cross creeks during one walk will be suggested. Or perhaps you can skip this one part of the hike if so desired. Note that if we are in areas where land leeches are found, a reality of forests in Southeast Asia, it will be necessary to have leech socks in a few spots.

Your Guides

Peter Burke is a well-known Canadian birder, artist, and author who started birding more than 40 years ago. Peter is widely known as one of the most affable guides out there, with an upbeat and accessible personality. His great sense of humor and amazing knowledge of birds makes for a fun, and very informative tour. He devotes much of his time to illustrating and works as a biological consultant. He has co-authored various articles on bird identification and biology and served as chair on the Ontario Bird Records Committee. Peter has birded extensively throughout Canada and much of the US and has traveled abroad to Andean South America, Papua New Guinea, Cuba, Trinidad, and much of Central America. He is an accomplished artist as is evident from his work in the identification and biology of the New World Blackbirds (Jaramillo and Burke, Princeton University Press), several editions of the National Geographic Society's Birds of North America (J. Dunn), and Birds of Chile (A. Jaramillo, P. Burke, D. Beadle). He is also a contributing artist to the Birds of Peru (T. Schulenberg et. al.) and the upcoming three volume series Birds of Brazil (B. Whitney et. al.). His most recent work includes illustrations in The Peterson Field Guide to the Birds of Northern Central America (Fagan and Komar 2016). He has led tours for Field Guides Inc., as well as Alvaro's Adventures.

Ms.Sukanya Thanombuddha (nickname: End). She has been a birding guide for many years, after having started birding in the early 1990s. She is originally from Bangkok and is an avid naturalist as well as birder. End is a skilled birder. She has been very active in the Thai birding community for more than 30 years and has a Thai "life list" of more than 900 species. She has excellent proficiency in English and has guided throughout the country of Thailand. End is very familiar with the birds and all the birding destinations in Thailand.

He had earlier volunteered as a bird leader for organizations such as Bangkok Metropolitan Administration, Bangchak Petroleum Company (PLC), Rajabhat University's Bird Life Club, and many other groups and societies. Later, he became an earnest bird and wildlife photographer. However, with the development of digital cameras, he stopped taking photos and dedicated himself to hosting bird watchers and bird photographers.

For 7 consecutive years, from February 2004 to March 2011, he was the first Thai birder invited as a guest columnist in the weekly bird-watching scoop for Kom Chad Luek Newspaper, Thailand's second highest selling newspaper (www.KomChadLuek.com). Par has published his own pocket guide book, named "Song Klong Mong Nok" (meaning: Watching birds through binoculars) to assist Thai readers and clients in learning more about bird-watching.

ALVARO'S ADVENTURES

Alvaro's Adventures's is a Registered Seller of Travel in the State of California (CST # 2105497). Registration as a seller of travel does not constitute approval by the State of California. This ensures your right to a prompt refund: Upon cancellation of the transportation or travel services, where the passenger is not at fault and has not canceled in violation of any terms and conditions previously clearly and conspicuously disclosed and agreed to by the passenger, all sums paid to the seller of travel for services not provided will be promptly paid to the passenger, unless the passenger advises the seller of travel in writing, after cancellation. This provision does not apply where the seller of travel has remitted the payment to another registered wholesale seller of travel or a carrier, without obtaining a refund, and where the wholesaler or provider defaults in providing the agreed-upon transportation or service. In this situation, the seller of travel must provide the passenger with a written statement accompanied by bank records establishing the disbursement of the payment, and if disbursed to a wholesale seller of travel, proof of current registration of that wholesaler.

TRIP CANCELLATION & MEDICAL EMERGENCY INSURANCE: Thailand requires that you have emergency medical insurance covering $50,000 and covering Covid related issues. We also strongly recommend you consider purchasing trip cancellation insurance to cover your investment in case of injury or illness to you or your family prior to or during a trip. Because we must remit early (and substantial) tour deposits to our suppliers, we cannot offer any refund when cancellation occurs within 70 days of departure, and only a partial refund from 70 to 119 days prior to departure (see CANCELLATION POLICY). In addition, the Department of State strongly urges Americans to consult with their medical insurance company prior to traveling abroad to confirm whether their policy applies overseas and if it will cover emergency expenses such as a medical evacuation. US medical insurance plans seldom cover health costs incurred outside the United States unless supplemental coverage is purchased. Furthermore, US Medicare and Medicaid programs do not provide payment for medical services outside the United States.

When making a decision regarding health insurance, Americans should consider that many foreign doctors and hospitals require payment in cash prior to providing service and that a medical evacuation to the United States may cost well in excess of $50,000. Uninsured travelers who require medical care overseas often face extreme difficulties. When consulting with your insurer prior to your trip, please ascertain whether payment will be made to the overseas healthcare provider or whether you will be reimbursed later for expenses that you incur.
